Chartis, a leading healthcare advisory firm, today announced that Joe Clancy has joined the firm as a Financial Transformation Partner.

With more than 25 years of healthcare industry experience, Clancy will lead engagement teams that specialize in improving operational performance through health system integration, payer/provider convergence, physician integration, and multi-lever cost and operational improvement interventions.

“We are excited to welcome Joe to Chartis,” said Rob Gamble, Chartis Managing Partner and Leader, Financial Transformation. “He has a proven track record of improving his clients’ operational and clinical performance. Joe’s deep enterprise transformation experience will enable Chartis to fulfill our mission of helping organizations reshape healthcare for the better.”

Prior to joining Chartis, Clancy was a consultant and served as CEO at multiple large regional medical centers.

Clancy graduated from the University of Rochester with a Bachelor of Arts in Health & Society and has a Master of Healthcare Administration from Virginia Commonwealth University.
