Today, The Chartis Group, a leading provider of comprehensive advisory services and analytics to the healthcare industry, announced that Sri Mani recently re-joined the firm as a Director in the Strategy and Private Equity Advisory practices.

“We are thrilled to welcome Sri back to Chartis. He has more than 20 years of experience in healthcare consulting and investment banking, with deep experience in mergers and acquisitions, strategy, and capital market transactions,” said Eric Mayeda, Director, Private Equity Advisory Practice Leader, The Chartis Group. “Faced with seismic industry disruption, healthcare investors and portfolio companies are seeking new opportunities for growth and value creation. Chartis is a stronger partner than ever as our clients undergo great change and create resilient, intelligent strategies for what’s next.”

Mani’s career spans more than two decades, having advised healthcare services companies as an investment banker and a management consultant. His expertise includes hospitals and health systems, independent and provider-owned health plans, and physician groups, as well as pre- and post-acute segments of healthcare delivery.

Prior to joining The Chartis Group, Mani was a Vice President in Goldman Sachs’ Investment Banking Division advising boards and leadership on their most pressing strategic initiatives. Transaction experience includes mergers and acquisitions, asset sales, joint ventures, partnerships, royalty monetization, and credit/rating agency strategy. In addition, he advised on capital market transactions including taxable and tax-exempt bond offerings as well as derivative transactions.

“When I started my healthcare career, the industry was undergoing significant disruption and change. Today, healthcare organizations are faced with a new set of challenges, and I am privileged to return to Chartis to continue working with healthcare organizations as they navigate their most pressing issues and strive to enhance quality, cost, and access to care for the patients they serve while optimizing operating and financial performance,” Mani said.

Prior to his career at Goldman Sachs, Mani was an engagement manager at The Chartis Group. While at The Chartis Group he evaluated M&A opportunities and worked on enterprise and service line strategy assignments and operational improvement engagements.

Mani has a Master of Public Policy from Harvard Kennedy School and a Bachelor of Arts from the University of Chicago.
