The Chartis Group, a leading healthcare advisory and analytics firm, has been named to the Modern Healthcare "Best Places to Work in Healthcare" list for the sixth time, ranking number 28 out of 75 suppliers.

"It's gratifying to see our name on the list again this year," said Shannon Brownell, Chief Talent Officer at The Chartis Group. "At Chartis, we are committed to creating an environment in which talented professionals enjoy continuous learning, intellectually stimulating work and a powerful culture of collaboration. The shared passion for our mission is as deep as our commitment and care for one another."

This annual award recognizes providers and suppliers throughout the healthcare industry that empower their employees to provide patients and customers with the best possible care, products, and services. Results also considered regard for employees' well-being, acknowledgment of their contributions, and deference to their experience and dedication to help maintain some level of harmony during the pandemic. Results are based on employee responses to an employee engagement and satisfaction survey.

This is the sixth year that Chartis has participated in the Best Places to Work program, and the sixth year the firm has been named to this list. To view the whole list, click here.
